- Any student enrolled in ACH and have interest in benefiting from the financial aid programs, must first complete the “Free Application for Federal Student Aid” (FAFSA).
- The application process can be started by following the following link: <https://fafsa.ed.gov/> in Spanish or English. Enter our Code, 015758, to send your FAFSA results electronically to our institution.
- In addition, you have the option to come by our Financial Aid Office, where you will receive guidance about how to complete a scholarship application and we provide a computer with Internet access to process the application.
- It is the student’s responsibility to complete the application.

HOW TO APPLY FOR FINANCIAL AID, WHAT IS THE FSA ID AND HOW TO OBTAIN IT.

The form to apply for FAFSA is obtained via the Internet and a FSA ID is needed.

The FSA ID consists of a login name and a password (created by the user), it replaced the personal identification number (PIN) as of May 2015. This login credential allows you to sign FAFSA electronically and access its confidential information in the website of the Student Federal Aid Office.

The FSA ID credential allows students and parents to validate their identity electronically and access the websites operated by the Federal Student Aid Office.

The FSA ID consists of a user name and a password and it can be used to initiate a session in the FAFSA website.

Even though it is not a requirement to have a FSA ID to fill-out an application on the FAFSA website, it is the best way to speed up authentication and FAFSA processing. In addition, you must have a FSA ID to access your information and make any corrections through the Internet. If you completed a FAFSA the previous year, this credential will allow you to transfer information from the old application to the new one on the Web.

This change was implemented to eliminate having to enter personal information (social security number, name and date of birth) into the Federal Student Aid systems. This change is critical to comply with new security requirements for processes. If you are the parent of a dependent student, you will need your own FSA ID (user identity) to sign your child's FAFSA electronically. If you have more than one child attending university, you can use the same ID to sign all the applications. Please note that each FSA user identity must have a unique email. You can obtain it at the following link: <https://fsaid.ed.gov/npas/index.htm>

Your FSA ID (user identity) is used to sign documents electronically that are legally binding. This has the same legal status as a written signature. Do not provide your FSA identity to anyone, not even to someone helping you to complete the FAFSA. Sharing your FSA identity card, could put you at risk of identity theft!

If your parents do not apply for a FSA ID, you must print the signature page, when processing the scholarship, to be mailed to the Department of Education.

How to create a FSA ID Credential

The FSA ID credential allows the user to access the systems of the Federal Student Aid Office (FSA) and sign documents.

You should only create one FSA ID credential using your own personal data and for your own and sole use. You do not have authorization to create a FSA ID for someone else, even if it is a relative. Any false impersonation to the Federal government could result in civil or criminal fines against you.

First Step: (Access)

- Provide your email, a username and password
- Certify you are older than thirteen (13) years old

Second Step: (Entering Personal Information)

- Provide social security number, name and date of birth
- Include your email, mailing address, telephone and preferred language
- Provide answers to five (5) questions. The system will provide questions 1 and 2 for you to choose, you will create a question and answer for questions 3 and 4 and for question 5, add a date that is significant in your life.

Third Step: (Submit the Information)

1. Agree with the terms and conditions

2. Verify your email

Note: When you verify your email, it can be used as a user ID when you access certain webpages of the U.S. Department of Education.

GRANTING AID

- The amount of financial assistance offered a student will not exceed study costs after deduction of expected family contribution and other resources.
- Financial aid will be granted for the academic year and will be disbursed based on the academic terms for which you are enrolled, if your academic load or progress has not changed.

DETERMINATION OF NEED

- The financial need is the difference between the cost of attendance and the amount the student's family can contribute to those costs. To determine the amount they can contribute, the financial income from the parents, the student and spouse (if applicable), number of family members and number of people in the family who attend post-secondary institutions, among others, are evaluated. This evaluation is a formula established by the U.S. Department of Education and the result is known as: Expected Family Contribution (EFC).
- The difference between the cost of attendance and the total family contribution is the student's financial need. This is the financial need we strive to cover with our Financial Assistance Programs. We also consider other resources that you might have available to cover education expenses when determining the financial need.

FEDERAL PELL GRANT

This is the basic aid of the Financial Aid programs available to all students with financial need. It is granted to students who meet the eligibility requirements.

- ✓ Depending on your eligibility, the student could receive an annual assigned award from $581.00 up to $5775.00 for 2015-2016. This scholarship will be credited to the student's account.
- ✓ The student will receive a financial aid itemization or award letter. He/she must read and sign accepting the awarded aid and authorizing Antilles College of Health to credit their account.

FINANCIAL AID FUNDS PROCEDURE

The process to disburse Financial Aid every semester is as follows:

1. The Registrar's Office will certify the student's enrollment and academic progress (see Satisfactory Academic Progress Policy on page 21).
2. The Financial Aid Office will proceed to add the students who qualify and have a complete file to the award payment list.
 - a. The student who has not shown academic progress at the end of the semester with a warning, and has a suspension status, will lose the right to disbursement of the financial aid for that semester.
 - b. Once the student improves or appeals the suspension and obtains a status of Probation, the financial aid for the semester will be reactivated or if the appeal grants him/her a status of probation, and the following semester the student is readmitted .

AID PACKAGE (Campus Based Programs)

These are named as such due to the fact that the responsibility to administer them falls under the Institution's Administrator of Financial Aid. The student could have the right to receive assistance from the different financial aid funds available. This is what is known as an aid package, such as Federal Work-Study and Federal Supplemental Educational Opportunity Grant. (FSEOG).

These programs are different due to the fact that FSEOG provides aid based on an allowance for qualifying students, while FWS provides part-time employment opportunities at the institution, schools and/or private or public profit seeking as well as non-profit companies. The amount of help the student receives is based on the financial need and the assigned funds available at the institution.

Contrary to the Federal Pell Grant, which provides funds for all eligible students, every institution participating in any of the campus based programs, receive an annual allowance for each of these programs.

STUDY-WORK PROGRAM (FWS)

This program provides employment to students who need financial aid and offers the opportunity to earn money to help cover education expenses. In addition, this program promotes community service jobs. Compensation for work performed is based on the current minimum wage. The total annual compensation depends on the financial need and the Institution's available funds.

Participants of this program usually work for the Institution. However, a 7% of the funds budget is allocated to place students in jobs outside the Institution, such as public agencies and local and federal government, as long as the work performed favors public interest and provides community service.

Students participating in community service could be placed in assisted elderly care centers, family literacy skills programs, preschool and elementary tutoring programs, civic orientation and disaster management programs, among others.

Once selected, the Office notifies the student verbally or by written notice. They will receive orientation about their work schedule, job description, Supervisor name and money amount to be received.

The student signs the Study-Work contract and the daily attendance form. The area supervisor reviews, approves and sends the attendance form to the Financial Aid Office monthly.

The Financial Aid Office reviews the attendance form one more time and prepares the payroll to submit to the Financial Office, who requests the funds and issues the checks for delivery.

Students in this program, can accumulate a maximum of 20 hours weekly. The pay period is once a month. The amount of assigned hours is determined based on the analysis of the student's financial need and the available annual funds.

The tasks performed by the students are supervised by the designated supervisor. Those students who do not maintain a satisfactory academic progress or the work is insufficient, could be substituted in their jobs by other students.

Any student who desires to apply for this federal aid, must come by the Financial Aid Office to fill-out an application. This application must be submitted during the first month of the fiscal year, or by notices from the Financial Aid Office.

It is important to point out that the students who possess a bachelor's degree can benefit from the Study-Work program (FWS).

FEDERAL SUPPLEMENTAL EDUCATIONAL OPPORTUNITY GRANT (FSEOG)

This is a financial aid program that grants an allowance to undergraduate students who show an exceptional financial need, as determined by the institution. In this program, the priority goes to students who participate in the Federal Pell Grant program and whose EFC is low. This allowance could be from $100.00 up to $500.00 per fiscal year. (This amount could vary according to the student's situation). The amount to be granted is established by the Financial Aid Office, based on available funds and is credited to the student's account.

The institution establishes a priority order for granting funds, students with EFC 0 are first and then students with a higher EFC go next.

If for any reason the aid its not given on one term and the student remains active, the aid will be granted in the following term.

UNDERGRADUATE SUPPLEMENTAL EDUCATIONAL AID PROGRAM PUERTO RICO EDUCATION BOARD

The state provides supplemental aid for undergraduate studies. The aid distribution follows the eligibility criteria regulation for the State Programs Administration of Financial Aid. The purpose of this program is to grant supplemental aid to students in an unfavorable financial situation and who are enrolled in eligible institutions. It will supplement the financial aid received by the students through federal programs and other state or private financial aid.

The aid granted will never exceed the student's financial need after deducting the other financial aid he/she might be receiving. In order to determine eligibility to participate in this program, the institution will use the analysis of financial need as mandated by federal regulation under the Federal Pell Grant Program, Title IV of the Higher Education Act of 1965, as amended. (This aid is subject to allocation and availability of funds.)

AID APPLICATION PROCESS

The Financial Aid Office will provide a form for this aid. The application will be evaluated to determine the financial need based on the student's EFC. This application can be completed by the student twice during the fiscal year. The grant amount could be between $100.00 up to $500.00 per term; in exceptional cases, this amount could vary. (Subject to availability of funds.)

FUNDS DISTRIBUTION BY PUERTO RICO EDUCATION COUNCIL AND METHODS TO CREDIT THE ACCOUNT

The funds assigned to each institution for the fiscal year will be distributed by the office to eligible students, according to the costs of attendance determined by the institution. The Financial Aid Office prepares an electronic payment list, sends to the Puerto Rico Education Council for authorization and then is credited to the student's account.

The aid will be assigned according to each student's financial need to help them cover enrollment costs for the specific term and their academic load. The sum total of the federal and state aid must not exceed the student's annual financial need.

- If there is a pending balance in the student's account, a credit will be issued. If not minor debt, a check will be issued to the student at the end of the academic term. In addition, the student can authorize the finance official to credit the remaining amount towards the next academic term.
- If the student withdraws from classes, refund of all aid, including state, will be followed according to the process established by the federal government. The student who withdraws from class will forfeit the right to any state aid for which he/she is being considered at the time of withdrawal.

If he/she does not comply with the SAP Policy, any granted aid will be suspended.

COST OF ATTENADANCE

The cost of attendance is an estimate of expenses related to education that the student will study periods in an academic year. This budget is published annually.

These budgets are prepared for the purpose of making a fair analysis of need among all students who apply for financial assistance. It establishes and clarifies that these budgets are not built for the purpose of granting more financial aid to students to select our institution as their school.

The institution has created a standardized budget for programs using reasonable and normal costs, the purpose of this standardized budget is not having the need to create individual budgets for each student.

These costs are approximate and space is left to consider special cases that can be considered as professional judgments.

We included in the study costs?

The cost of a student's study includes:

- Tuition and fees are charged to a student by program (admission $ 25, $ 50 certification.)

The Financial Aid Office is committed and responsible for protecting the correct use of the student's social security, which is only used for financial aid purposes, likewise essential protections are established to guarantee legitimate use.

Visit or call the Treasury Office to discuss options. ACH allows monthly payments throughout the school year for any remaining balance.

FINANCIAL COMMITMENT WITH THE INSTITUTION

Upon enrollment, students sign a study agreement that explains the cost of the program in detail, the payment plan, the refund policy, and any adjustments for withdrawing and or cancellation. The student and his guardian (if under 21 and not legally married) will be responsible for expenses incurred in the collection of overdue payments and may be referred to a collection agency.

The institution provides ATM services, Visa, Mastercard, cash, money order and check (identification required). All payments will be made on or before the due date. The student must have no balance before the end of each semester. In case of failure to comply with any payment, the institution may require the total amount of debt, stop processing or handling tuition official documents, suspend or terminate the student study agreement.

The institution will consider cases of extenuating circumstances assessed and referred by the Program Director.

ADJUSTMENTS AND WITHDRAWN REFUNDS

If a student chooses to withdraw from the program for any reason before completing studies, the student must inform ACH verbally or in writing. A notice must be routed through the Registrar Office before withdrawal.

- a. If the student withdraws or stops attending classes, there will be a refund of Title IV funds through a calculation to determine the last day of Academic Assistance and or related activity.
- b. The student will be responsible for the remaining balance not covered by the refund or adjustment of the scholarship.

CANCELLATION RIGHT AND REFUND POLICY

Cancellations before Start of Classes

If a candidate cancels their registration within three (3) business days after signing the study agreement, the Institution will refund all the money paid. This must be requested in writing.

Cancellations after Start of Classes

For those students who withdraws or are expelled after starting classes, refunds will be calculated based on the last day of attendance and will be paid within thirty (30) days after the withdrawal or expulsion date that can be documented as such.

DISBURSEMENT MADE AFTER WITHDRAWAL OR POST-WITHDRAWAL

An aid can be issued after a student processes a withdrawal. This happens when at withdrawal time, a valid Student Aid Report (SAR) is in place but there were missing documents to complete the academic record, or the Registrar's Office had not certified the student.

INSTITUTION POLICY OF CANCELLATION AND REFUND

Once the student has signed the tuition contract to study at Antilles College of Health, he/she will have (3) days from the date the contract was signed to file a cancellation of tuition in writing. Refund of any payment made will be made at the time of cancellation.

The student who withdraws from the Institution after the established refund deadlines will not be able to receive a refund of the Program Studies cost.

The student who withdraws from the Institution will be entitled to a refund as a result of applying the institutional policy as follows: (unearned cost)

Day Semester (15 weeks)		Night/Weekend (20 weeks)
Attended Week	Percent to Refund	Attended Week	Percentage to Refund
1	90%	1	90%
2-3	50%	2 - 4	50%
4- 7	25%	5 - 9	25%
8 or more	0%	10 or more	0%

Every withdrawal is subject to a $100.00 fee.

All equipment and book costs are the student responsibility. Therefore, it is not included in the refund. The students withdrawal after the refund deadlines will not be entitled to receive one.

TITLE IV FUNDS (R2T4) REFUND POLICY

The Refund Policy has been in effect since July 1, 2000, for all students who withdraw. The same applies to all the students receiving Title IV Financial Aid funds from the U.S. Department of Education.

The Retention and Counseling Office will inform the Registrar of the student status 14 days after follow-up. The Registrar's Office will complete the form and deliver to the Financial Aid Office to complete the withdrawal process within the date established by the U.S. Department of Education.

If a student beneficiary of Title IV funds drops out from a class during the enrollment term, Antilles College of Health must calculate a percentage (%) and the amount from the Title IV funds the student will not be entitled to receive. It is the institution or the student responsibility to return such funds to the respective programs of Title IV, according to the result of the calculation.

TERMINATION DATE

The academic year consists of two semesters of fifteen weeks or more each. For purposes of calculating the amount to be refunded, the termination date will be the last day the student attended classes or the last day of academic activity.

The date the student processes the withdrawal will be used as the determining date.

SPECIAL CASES

If the Institution determines that a student didn't start the withdrawal process or didn't notify the Institution because of illness, accident, death in the family or any other similar circumstance beyond the student's control; it will be ACH responsibility to determine the last date of attendance.

CALCULATION OF THE AMOUNT OF TITLE IV FUNDS EARNED

The percent (%) of Title IV funds accrued will be calculated in the following way:

- If the last day of the student attendance occurs on or before completing 60% of the payment period receiving Title IV funding, the amount accrued by the student is calculated as follows: the total amount of Title IV disbursed funds will be multiplied (and or the amount that could have been disbursed) for the term the student registered until the withdrawal day.
- If the termination day occurs after completing 60% of the payment period, the student will be entitled to receive 100% of the payment.
- The percentage and the amount not paid is the complement of the percentage of Title IV funds accrued, multiplied by the total amount of Title IV funds disbursed (or to disbursed) to the student for the payment period and from the day the student drops out.

NOTE:

After classes start, if a student does not attend any of the registered classes the institution will be forced to discount those courses and to adjust the academic charge to calculate the R2T4 (recalculate).

PERCENTAGE OF THE PAYMENT PERIOD OR COMPLETED ENROLLMENT PERIOD

Since the study programs are measured in credit hours, this requires that the number of calendar days in the enrollment period for which the Title IV funds are disbursed, are divided by the number of calendar days completed until the last day of attendance of the student, minus any recess period of five (5) days or more during that period.

DIFFERENCES BETWEEN AMOUNT OF MONEY EARNED AND RECEIVED

If a student receives less financial assistance from Title IV funds to which he/she is entitled, the institution will comply with the procedure of a late disbursement. If the student received more financial aid than he/she is entitled from Title IV, the institution, the student or both would be obligated to return the funds, as it has been established. (Not to exceed 45 days).

RETURNING TITLE IV FUNDS NOT EARNED

It is required that the Institution returns the lesser of:

- The amount of funds of Title IV programs to which the student is not entitled or the amount of institutional charges incurred by student during the period of enrollment multiplied by the percentage of not earned funds.
- The student (or relative, in a case of loans PLUS) is obligated to return or to pay, according to the case, the Title IV funds and loans not accrued minus the financial aid amount not earned that should be returned by the institution to the grants of scholarships and loans.

These funds will be credited to the pending balances in the following order:

The return of funds required for the credited balances of pending loans during the enrolling period in the following order:

- Federal Scholarship Pell Grant for the payment period in which refund of funds is required.
- Federal Supplementary Scholarship of Educational Opportunities (FSEOG) for the payment period in which refund of funds is required.
- Other help or loan aid authorized by Title IV of Student Financial Aid of the U.S. Department of Education.

Antilles College of Health only uses the Federal Pell Grant, FSEOG and Funds of Supplemental Education Aid.

ADJUSTMENTS FOR ACADEMIC LOAD CHANGES (SPECIAL PROGRAMMING)

If a student does not start one or more of the classes for which they were originally enrolled and the academic load is reduced, the approval of the Federal Pell Grant will be adjusted (if applicable). The total credits of enrolled classes (12 or more credits- full time scholarship; from 9 to 11 credits - 3/4 time scholarship; from 6 to 8 credits -1/2 time scholarship; less than 6 credits payment will be adjusted according to the scale of “less than part-time”). The student will be responsible for the balance not covered by the scholarship adjustment. If a student adds classes to the original enrollment the cost of tuition will increase and the approval of the Pell Grant will be adjusted (if applicable).

HEALTH RISKS FOR ILLEGAL USE OF DRUGS AND ALCOHOL ABUSE

Because drugs are chemicals that alter the normal function of the body, when they are consumed without a prescription and in an addictive way, they can cause injuries to the brain, heart, liver and other internal organs. An overdose of drugs can become almost always fatal.

Some of the problems faced by those who abuse drugs are:

- The consumer of drugs loses the resistance to fight diseases because the chemicals lower the immune system. In addition, many organs deteriorate with the abuse of the drugs.
- An urgent and compulsive urge to use the drug because of a physiological need.
- When a drug is used frequently, in order to feel the same effects, the dosage will have to be increased.
- Using the drug on a regular basis will make the addicts become criminals to finance their habit. Some drugs produce hostility and lead to violence.
- The drug addict has no friends but the drug itself. Often, their only friends are those who sell it, as long as they have money to pay for it.

People's motivations to do drugs may be different. The main reasons for doing drugs are feeling curiosity, wanting to do what their friends do, or escaping. However, behind the use of drugs, it has been discovered that the drug addict hasn't adequately resolved the basic problems hindering their character development and social functioning.

MARIHUANA

Marihuana is known in Puerto Rico with other names, such as: "cigarrillo", "pito", "pitillo", "gallo" and "pasto" (cigarette, whistle, rooster and grass)

The immediate effect of marihuana is usually explosive laughter, red eyes, a bigger appetite and in many cases, visual and auditory distortion. Under the influence of marihuana, there is a loss in concentration and capacity to remember what one sees and hears and the learning process is affected in a negative way. When marihuana is used regularly, a lack of motivation shifts the person's mood. When driving under the influence of marihuana, visual and hearing coordination may put the person in danger.

Marihuana can also turn someone into a paranoid individual (monomaniac); believing someone haunts them, and experiencing hallucinations (seeing things or hearing voices that don't exist); as well as psychosis or memory loss.

HEROINE

Heroin doesn't have any medical use. It is an illegal drug, just like the rest of the narcotics that are not prescribed.

The effects are usually euphoria, drowsiness, and heaviness in the limbs, loss of concentration, decreased appetite, thirst, and sexual desire.

The abuse of heroin can lead to death through an overdose or to infectious diseases, such as hepatitis, tetanus and others, like AIDS (Acquired Immune Deficiency Syndrome) by sharing infected syringes

COCAINE

It is rarely used for medical purposes. Commonly, it is consumed by snorting, smoking or injecting it.

Today, it is known that cocaine affects the brain, specifically the neurotransmitter substances, it is addictive and can cause death from a heart attack, severe convulsions or an overdose

Initially, it causes feelings of wellbeing, euphoria, confidence, alertness, etc., but once these effects fade out, depression (deep sadness), paranoia (persecution ideas) and in some cases hostility and aggressiveness follow.

The use of cocaine develops psychological dependence; therefore, as the person needs the drug, it experiences accelerated heartbeat and raises the blood pressure, which can cause coronary spasms that can cause death.

It destroys the nasal tissues after a long time using it, and it can cause respiratory paralysis, in addition, smoking it can cause lung seizures. An overdose can cause respiratory paralysis, convulsions, cardiac attack, and death.

CRACK

With the new variant of cocaine, crack has become the most dangerous drug of all because it creates an addiction very quickly. It is known for its speed reaching the brain, and a hallucinogenic more intense than any other drugs.

The person who smokes it feels its effects in just seconds. Changes in the brain are greater, feeling euphoria immediately that disappears in six or seven minutes. Consequently, other symptoms follow such as hyperactivity, irritability, violence and paranoia. In this mental state, they can commit great atrocities to get another dose.

Crack affects the nervous system, altering their biochemical functions; affects the respiratory system causing pain in the lungs and bronchitis; muscle and extremities contractions, dilated pupils and fast heartbeat.

The delusion of persecution possesses the users of crack in a way that they see enemies in everybody that surrounds them, including their family members, waking up within them the desire to eliminate those who are against them. The overdose can be mortal.

VOLATILE SUBSTANCES

Volatile substances are contained in products whose penetrating vapors are dissolved in the air. Many of these products are commonly used in the home and industry, but they no longer have toxic substances. They are known as “thinner”, cement, plastic and others.

When inhaling concentrated amounts of solvents or aerosols through the nose, they may experience loss of control, violent behavior and loss of sense. Death could happen due to heart failure or suffocation by displacing oxygen from the lungs if it is deliberately inhaled from a paper bag with concentrated vapors.

Inhaling volatile substances for a long time could cause permanent damage to the nervous system, as well as use of other inhalers can cause damage to the liver, kidneys, blood and bone marrow.

TRANQUILIZERS

The most common are: Valium, Equanil, Librium and Ativan. It is illegal to possess them if they are not prescribed because they cause tolerance as well as physical and psychological dependence, requiring more each time; the body starts to create a dependency on it, and thus becoming needed psychologically.

If any sedative or tranquilizer is combined with alcohol, it is extremely dangerous, and like an overdose it can cause respiratory failure, seizures, coma and death. Therefore, tranquilizers should only be used with a medical prescription.

AMPHETAMINES

Amphetamines have the ability to speed up the nervous system, providing an immediate feeling of more energy and alertness, increasing concentration and productivity in their work.

They are administered orally or intravenously, accelerating the heart rate and blood pressure, and causing loss of appetite and increased activity.

Under the use of amphetamines, other effects such as hallucinations, panic, tension and excitement accompanied by mental confusion may occur.

Like other drugs, the abuse of amphetamines can cause physical and psychological dependency, cardiac problems, complications with other diseases and death from overdose.

Possession or distribution of amphetamines without a medical prescription is illegal.

It can only be obtained with medical prescription and for specific cases.

OTHER NARCOTICS

They all derive from the opium poppy or opium flower. Some like codeine, morphine, meperidine and opium have medical use as pain relievers. They can be injected or used by mouth. There are others, such as Methadone, which is used to replace heroin for those who suffer dependence on the drug. Since it is incompatible with heroin, it helps its users to gradually diminish the dose until it can be eliminated.

ALCOHOL

It happens to be one of the most common depressants, causing tolerance when it is abused and developing physical and psychological dependency needing medical treatment. The immediate effect of alcohol is the loss of inhibitions, decrease in coordination and intoxication, causing discomfort or hangover the next day. The abuse of alcohol causes serious damage to the liver, heart, pancreas and the gastrointestinal system. It can cause deficiency to the immune system as well as emotional and psychological damages, seriously affecting social and family relations.

CONCLUSION

We have already seen the effects that the best-known drugs cause to people who abuse them. We know they are illegal, and although some people used them only once, others became addicted believing they will only use it once. We know the dangers entailed when experimenting with them. Some people believe there is no danger in experimenting with volatile substances or marijuana because they will be able to stop using them when they want.

You have the decision in your hands. Saying NO to any drug, including the abuse of alcohol is an indicator of your strength. You know that beginning a mature life with a future full of hope and progress is what awaits you if you stay firm in your decision. The decision to use drugs means not being in control of your body and mind, not being able to respond to what is said or done. Therefore, the decision of using drugs is always against the person using it, affecting their health, studies, work, and future in a negative way.

Now you know everything about drugs and its dangers. It is up to you to decide what you want to do with the only life you have.
